These objectives relate directly to the National Curriculum and should be embedded in writing across the curriculum in enriched, topic based themes. Words in BLUE directly link to the Grammar terminology for pupils in the Grammar index on the National Curriculum document.

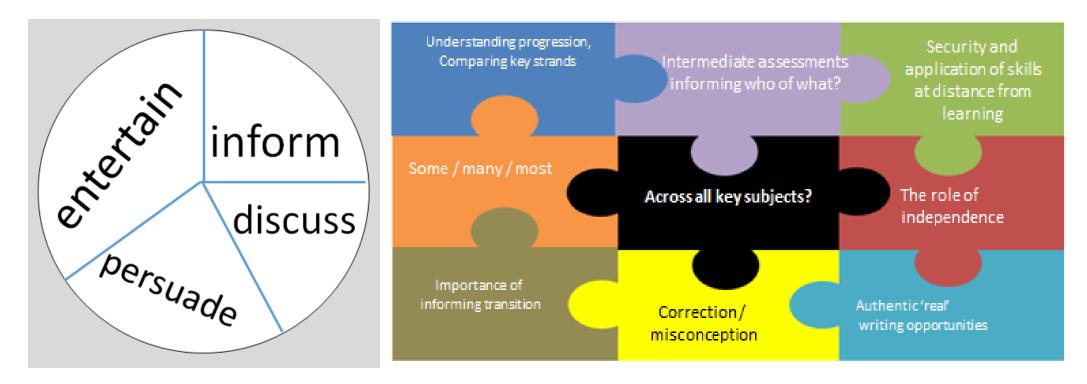

These skills must be taught explicitly in each year group with appropriate opportunities planned for children to explore their new learning through a range of games and tasks. By doing this, the knowledge will be secure and it will have the greatest impact on their writing.

For those requiring additional support, it is essential that they consolidate prior learning through rigorous and systematic teaching in order to catch up with their peers. This may be through specifically planned tasks as starters or through timely interventions.

Some children may have secured all the elements within the year group accurately – they will need to develop the ability to manipulate sentence structures and experiment with their skills. They must demonstrate consistency in these skills across all areas of the curriculum.

End of Key Stage expectations state that to be working at the expected level pupils demonstrate attainment of all of the statements within that standard and all the statements in the preceding standards.

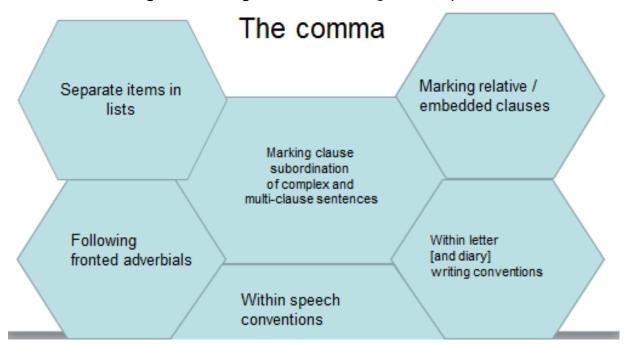

This guidance document (agreed by staff members and reviewed accordingly) should be used as a tool alongside rich and engaging writing opportunities to write with purpose for an audience across the whole curriculum.

Notes for Teachers → children should be taught to experiment with concepts and skills:

- The little boy fumbled frantically for the door because he heard the voices behind him.
- Frantically, the little boy fumbled for the door because he heard the voices behind him.
- Fumbling frantically for the door, the boy heard to the voices behind him.
- Because he heard the voices behind him, the little boy fumbled frantically for the door.

Teachers should always recap and build upon previous knowledge through explicit teaching in a rich and meaningful way to ensure that progression and understanding is clear e.g. When teaching the simple 'Comma', which skill comes first?

Considerations when deciding if pupils have met Age Related Expectations (ARE):

Considerations for pupils at ARE:

- What has the child demonstrated?
- What has the child demonstrated consistently outside of English lessons?
- What still needs to be recapped prior to children demonstrating it with confidence?
- What hasn't been taught / applied yet?

Considerations for pupils not meeting ARE:

- What's the main barrier?
- What spelling support does the child need?
- How far back is the 'unsecured' learning? Use the Grammar outline below to track gaps.
- What additional support / resources are available? Impact?

ELG: Writing

Write recognisable letters, most of which are correctly formed.

Spell words by identifying sounds in them and representing the sounds with a letter or letters.

Write simple phrases and sentences that can be read by others.

n to Year 1:

r 1 who have not yet met the ELG for Literacy should heir school's curriculum OR the EYFS to develop their ing and language skills.

However, these pupils should follow Y1 programmes of study so that they develop their vocabulary and understanding of the grammar.

opportunities to talk about them.

Developing Vocabulary at Year 3/4:

In addition to the Year 1 and 2 objectives, children should be taught strategies to use resources such as dictionaries and thesauruses to make refined choices of vocabulary. They should use 'word study' / clines and their spelling knowledge (pre-fix and suffix meanings) to develop their understanding of words in order to build their vocabulary.

They should be given the opportunity to think about and explore the meaning of words that will appear in their GR text before being exposed to it.

They may rely on the same vehicle for paragraph shifting e.g. time and place and the transition between paragraphs may still be disjointed, awkward or abrupt. N.B. Paragraphing must be explicitly taught through games and tasks such as 'Chopping up' and re-organising; this should be an integral part of lessons. Despite developing their understanding of paragraphing, explicit teaching to consolidate sentence structure must continue.

Structure and organisation of texts:	How do we plan for sequencing and paragraphing?
Wording from the curriculum
Children will move from writing simple sentences to writing sentences that are linked together in a paragraph. They will then move on to writing a sequence of paragraphs that are cohesive across a piece of writing. In Year 5/6: • Use a wide range of devices to build cohesion within and across paragraphs. • Using further organisational and presentational devices to structure texts and guide the reader e.g. headings, bullet points, underlining, • Use a glossary • BEING AWARE OF PURPOSE AND READERSHIP – conscious decision making based on genre/audience/purpose. In Year 5/6: Children are developing the overall organisation of different texts (in different subjects). This is generally supported by paragraphs or sections which enable coherent development or control of the content (by Year 6). Relationships between paragraphs or sections give structure to the whole text and this sequence contributes to the overall effectiveness of the text However, some transitions may still be awkward or abrupt. Some shaping of paragraphs may be evident highlighting or prioritising information e.g. provide chronological links, inject comment etc. A range of cohesive devices are often used to develop and/or elaborate ideas both within and between paragraphs (e.g. pronouns, adverbials, connectives, subject specific vocabulary, phrases, or chains of references (e.g. he, the boy, the teenager).

Before moving on to Y6:

Children should demonstrate the ability to manipulate them to meet the needs of the audience and have conscious control about which to use.

Children should consciously select and order words/phrases/clauses for precise effect and be increasingly accurate with internal demarcation. They should understand the meaning of a word and make conscious choices with their vocabulary. Children are increasingly able to establish and control their viewpoint and should be provided with opportunities to make decisions about how their ideas and content should be structured and presented.

For children who are still struggling with previous learning, it is essential that they practise and consolidate prior learning through rigorous and systematic teaching in order to catch up with their peers.

However, as far as possible, these pupils should follow the Upper Key Stage 2 programmes of study in terms of accessing books and other writing so that they hear and learn new vocabulary and grammatical structures and have opportunities to talk about them.

To challenge:

Children should be able to use/adapt and manipulate their skills across the curriculum with increasing fluency/mastery.

These children need to be provided opportunities to make choices about how they organise and present their work. They should confidently choose and use a range of devices (organisational, presentational, and cohesive) to meet the needs a widening audience and their differing needs (including personal and impersonal writing).

Children are able to elaborate or nominalise information for interest, emphasis and succinctness.

They attempt ambitious sentence structures using a wide range of punctuation to order and prioritise meaning (with occasional error).

Their viewpoint conveys and individual voice that is generally sustained throughout a piece e.g. an authoritative expert view, a convincing characterisation, opposing opinions.

By the end of Year 6, pupils reading and writing should be sufficiently fluent and effortless for them to manage the general demands of the curriculum in Year 7, across all subjects not just in English, but there will continue to be a need for pupils to learn subject specific vocabulary.

They should be able to reflect their understanding of the audience for and purpose of their writing by selecting appropriate vocabulary and grammar. Teachers should prepare pupils for secondary education by ensuring that they can consciously control sentence structure in their writing and understand why sentences are constructed as they are.

Developing an understanding of unfamiliar VOCABULARY and expanding the children's range of VOCABULARY.

Red word – I have never heard of it.	Amber word – Thave heard of it but can't explain it well.	Green word – Ilike this word and can use it confidently.

Tier III words are low-frequency words and are limited to a specific "domain". They often pertain to a specific content area. These words are best learned within the context of the lesson or subject matter Examples: atom, molecule, metamorphic, sedimentary, continent

Tier II

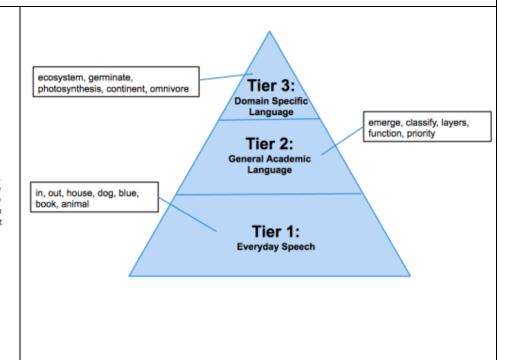

Tier II words are high-frequency words that occur across contexts. These words are used by mature language users and are more common in writing than in everyday speech. Tier II words are important for students to know to enhance comprehension of a selected text. Tier II words the best words for targeted explicit

Overall Outcome: SPOKEN LANGUAGE

These statements apply to all years.

The content should be taught at a level appropriate to the age of the pupils.

Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Year 4	Year 5	Year 6

Notes and Guidance (NC):

- Pupils should build on the oral language skills that have been taught in preceding years.
- Pupils should be taught to develop their competence in spoken language and listening to enhance the effectiveness with which they are able to communicate across a range of contexts and to a range of audiences.
- They should therefore have opportunities to work in groups of different sizes in pairs, small groups, and large groups and as a whole class.
- Pupils should understand how to take turns and when and how to participate constructively in conversations and debates.
- Attention should also be paid to increasing pupils' vocabulary, ranging from describing their immediate world and feelings to developing a broader, deeper and richer vocabulary to discuss abstract concepts and a wider range of topics, and to enhancing their knowledge about language as a whole.
- Pupils should receive constructive feedback on their spoken language and listening, not only to improve their knowledge and skills but also to establish secure foundations for effective spoken language in their studies at primary school, helping them to achieve in secondary education and beyond.

Objectives:

- listen and respond appropriately to adults and their peers;
- ask relevant questions to extend their understanding and knowledge;
- use relevant strategies to build their vocabulary;
- articulate and justify answers, arguments and opinions;
- give well-structured descriptions, explanations and narratives for different purposes, including for expressing feelings;
- maintain attention and participate actively in collaborative conversations, staying on topic and initiating and responding to comments;
- use spoken language to develop understanding through speculating, hypothesising, imagining and exploring ideas;
- speak audibly and fluently with an increasing command of Standard English;
- participate in discussions, presentations, performances, role play, improvisations and debates;
- gain, maintain and monitor the interest of the listener(s);
- consider and evaluate different viewpoints, attending to and building on the contributions of others;
- select and use appropriate registers for effective communication.
